Two Envoy Solutions Companies Honored by Green2Sustainable for Leadership in Sustainability

Chicago, Ill., October 14th, 2022 — Two Envoy Solutions companies, WAXIE Sanitary Supply and North American Corporation, were the recipients of the Green2Sustainable's 2022 Sustainability Recognition Plaque handed out each year at the ISSA Show® North America. The show was held in Chicago in October of this year.

To select the recipients, Green2Sustainable uses advanced analytic tools to measure and monitor an organization's use of natural resources, fuel, energy, waste, and other metrics.

They also conduct semiannual, one-on-one performance reviews with the recipients, suggesting ways to reduce their consumption, environmental impact, and operating costs.

"We are so impressed with how much WAXIE Sanitary Supply and North American Corporation have accomplished," says Katrina Saucier, program manager for Green2Sustainable. "Your efforts to measure and reduce your organization's consumption has direct results on the associated environmental impacts."

According to Mark M. Fisher, CEO of Envoy Solutions, the parent company of WAXIE and North American, it is an honor to be recognized by Green2Sustainable.

"We are committed to being a leader that promotes responsible business practices in the communities we serve, so it's meaningful to receive this recognition for our ongoing efforts," said Fisher. "With the help of Green2Sustainable's program, we've taken significant steps forward in our sustainability journey as well as improved operational efficiencies."
